Accessibility Standards Compliance

Overview

The PubFactory platform supports all level A and most level AA success criteria of the WCAG 2.0 guidelines (<http://www.w3.org/TR/WCAG20>). The platform also meets a number of the the level AAA success criteria. As a result of this, the platform also meets all relevant priority 1 items from the WCAG 1.0 standard. WCAG 1.0 is no longer explicitly supported due to obsolescence of the standard and the fact that it is superseded by WCAG 2.0. This document applies specifically to the WCAG 2.0 version at <http://www.w3.org/TR/2008/REC-WCAG20-20081211/>

Support is provided for all PubFactory features based on the default skin. Customized skins will conform to the same degree unless customer requested modification introduce functionality or the re-organization of content in such a way that may affect compliance with these standards. Safari will attempt to notify client if requested modifications will reduce compliance with accessibility guidelines, but can not be held responsible for ensuring the same level of compliance for customer requested changes.

PubFactory does not and can not ensure any particular level of accessibility support for customer supplied content. The customer will be responsible for ensuring that all supplied content meets their level of accessibility compliance. In particular, but not limited to, audio, video, and other multimedia formats are generally required to have captions, transcripts, or other alternate versions to meet accessibility criteria. In all cases the customer will be responsible for providing alternate forms of content. Safari can advise customers on methods to meet these requirements.
